DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 02/03/2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35

Art Unit: 1713

U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 1-9 and 15-24 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anseth et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,902,599 (hereinafter "Anseth") in view of Lee et al., U.S. Patent No. 5,089,364 (hereinafter "Lee").

5. The claims are interpreted as broadly as possibly. It appears that the Applicant is seeking to patent all polymeric networks that have a fixed confirmation. The Applicants does not state what type of polymer or template compound is required to practice the invention. The Examiner will assume any compound that engages in molecularly bonding with a polymer will suffice. Anseth teaches biodegradable polymer networks which are useful in a variety of dental applications. Anseth teaches polymer networks prepared from polymers of mixed anhydride functionalized monomers and the subsequent cross-linking with MCPH (template compound). See Anseth, col. 4, line 29 through col. 5, line 25. Anseth differs from the present invention in that the present invention now requires at least one template compound dissolved or suspended in a liquid. The use of a liquid is nothing new in the preparation of polymeric networks. Lee teaches, in analogous art, the formation of ipn's where polymers are mixed in the liquid state. See Lee, col. 6, lines 15-27; Table 1. In view of Lee, one having an ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to modify Anseth by using polymers in the liquid state. Such modification would be obvious because one would expect that the use of ipn's as taught by Anseth would be similarly useful and applicable to the ipn's taught in Lee.
